Stop 1: Look to your left as you enter the building and see the kiosk with transportation options and bus/shuttle schedules to and from the SEC to Harvard Square. Stop and read SEAS' Mission Statement Wall to understand what the school is all about.

Stop 2: Walk past the Mark I over to the Main Atrium and watch a video to get a glimpse of what future speaker events will look like at the SEC. Make sure to look out to the Engineering Yard where you can hang out with friends and also do some work thanks to the wifi and multiple electrical outlets.

Stop 3: Welcome to the Undergraduate and Student Organization Lounge Area. This space was developed for students to shift easily from individual projects to group projects and even infuse some social events, all in the same space. Check out the dedicated lockers with electrical outlets where you can grab yourself a SEAS Popsocket!

Stop 4: Stop by and say “hi” to the Library staff, grab some giveaways and explore the newest Harvard library. Note the variety of study nooks, open study spaces, quiet study rooms and the beautiful terrace looking out to the Engineering Yard. The lockers in this area will be the pick-up spot for books requested from other Harvard libraries.

Stop 5: Stop by the SEC Cafe and say hi to the HUDS staff who will be preparing delicious breakfast, lunch, and on occasional evenings late night options from 8pm-10pm. Explore the menu where fly-by options will be available for lunch, and Board Plus can also be used during all meal times.

Stop 6: Enter Room 1.402, one of the many Flexible Classrooms, and watch a tour video of the new Active Learning Labs spaces. Exit the room and grab yourself a pair of SEAS VR glasses near the Office of Academic Programs. This exit will send you in the direction of the Harvard Shuttle Stop.
